Pensioners Hold Regular Meeting

The monthly meeting of the Coleman Old Age Pensioner Association was held as usual in the Elks hall on Monday, March 3rd.

We were all very sorry indeed to hear that our president, Mrs. Nora Goulding was absent owing to illness. So in her absence Mr. Hill, first vice-president, took her chair, while Mr. Redington took the chair of the second vice-president, and Mrs. Ethel Kostelnik took the chair of the secretary.

The meeting was opened with the singing of "O Canada" and the minutes were read and adopted.

The correspondence was then read, including a letter asking us to send some delegates to Port Macleod Monday, March 10th where the annual meeting of all the branches of the district will assemble. Mrs. Ethel Kostelnik and Mrs. Harry Boulton would represent the Coleman branch.

The rest of the letters were placed on file.

After the meeting the secretary told us we were to have the games, hingo and court whist and that Mrs. Ruth Derbyshire and Mrs. Jack Iustushon had kindly donated two prizes.

The officers and members showed their appreciation in the usual way.

Hills were read and dealt with—the secretary remarking there were 132 members to date. The financial statement was then read and accepted. Several members were reported sick and had cards sent to them. Mr. Hill said he was expressing the thought of all the officers and members when he said he hoped the president would soon be quite well and back in office, also he personally thanked all who had sent get well cards to her. Mr. Hill welcomed the visitors from Blairmore.

Mr. Rushton then informed us that at the next meeting the Elks would put on a concert for us, to which we are all looking forward. It was then moved we adjourn and after singing the Queen, hingo and court whist was enjoyed by all.

The prizes went as follows — Hingo, Mrs. Ceccolino and Douglas Home; whist, first ladies, Mrs. Rogiani; 2nd, Mrs. Richards; gents first, Mr. A. Caroe, and 2nd, Mrs. Agnes Derbyshire.

Then we all sat down to a delicious lunch, which the lunch committee prepared for us and which we all heartily enjoyed, so ending another pleasant evening.

Evelyn Jones,
Press Correspondent.

Jim Derrick Liberal Candidate

Farmer, former director of the PUA district 12, 4-H Club leader, telegraph operation and station, James Derrick of Lonsville, was nominated recently to carry the Liberal banner in Macleod federal constituency.

Mr. Derrick is 50 years old, and came to Alberta when he was two.

His mother, a widow with four small children, came from North Dakota, to homestead south of Etzikom, in 1909. Mr. Derrick went to public school at Warner at 11 and to high school in Calgary. He attended business college there and worked six years for the Canadian Pacific Railway. He operated a grocery store for seven years. For the past 20 years he has farmed west of High River in the Longview district.

He was interested in 4-H Club work for six years and was director in the PUA for three and a half years before resigning to go into politics last election as campaign manager for the Liberal candidate, Gordon Burton.

He was nominated by Dr. Burton at the Liberal convention.

Keenly interested in the future of farming and stock growing, Mr. Derrick says that he decided to go active in politics because of the difficulties agriculture is encountering. Last year he did a great deal of campaigning in the Crow's Nest district and he believes that a direct rehabilitation program and encouragement of industries will help the Pass area.

He is married to the former Marguerite Bews, a daughter of a pioneer family of the High River district. They will shortly celebrate their 25th anniversary and have three children. Jim is lab technician with a refinery at Hardisty. Anne is secretary in an architect's office in Calgary, and Stanley is at home.

Aerial Tramway Used to Maintain Service Crows Nest Micro-Wave Station

Transmission outages on the Alberta leg of the Trans-Canada micro-wave system will be reduced through installation of this cable car at the Crows Nest station. In the event of equipment trouble at the mountain-top tower site, Alberta Government Telephone maintenance men can use the cable car for speedy ascent from valley road.

Truck road gouged out of mountain-side during tower construction is subject to frequent blocking for extended periods. Multi-thousand dollar electronic equipment at station is linked with Calgary terminal by an alarm circuit and overhead wire. The 250 foot tower is built to withstand winds up to 100 miles per hour. Cost of cable car installation is estimated at $50,000.

Alberta's most westerly link in the Trans-Canada microwave system was recently put into operation by Alberta Government Telephone at a point less than a mile from the British Columbia boundary. The tower is located atop a mountain peak in the Crows Nest Ridge, some 15 miles west of Coleman.

Choice of the site was influenced by a fortunate natural phenomena. An unobstructed transmission path extends through the mountain valley back to the tower at Pincher Creek and forward to the first British Columbia tower at Fernie.

Micro-wave transmission allows only slight offsets from a perfectly straight line. Alberta Government Telephone engineers say that had the mountain ridge upon which the tower is built been situated as much as one-quarter mile north or south of the required site a much more difficult construction problem would have been faced.

A bed-rock anchor holds the 250 foot tower withstand winds up to 300 miles per hour. It will not sway one degree in winds up to 100 miles per hour, a frequent occurrence in this mountain section. Even a minor sway of one degree will distort microwave signal.

Construction of Crows Nest tower was accomplished by gouging a truck road out of the mountain-side to link up with a permanent valley road about 1,000 feet lower down. The track road is subject to frequent blocking from snow and rock slides. An alternative method of access had to be devised to enable speedy servicing of delicate electronic equipment at the site. The problem was solved through installation of a cable car.

End terminals only are used for suspending the conveyance. Elevation is over 1,000 feet and distance is about 2800 feet. Single anchor suspension cable is one-inch diameter. The endless traction cable is three-quarter inch in thickness.

The car may be operated by controls at either top or bottom terminal. Only control inside the cage is a safety brake to be used in case of cable breakage. A telephone circuit connects terminals and car.

2.25 horsepower electric motor drives the cable car, which is large enough to carry two or three men and light tools. Travel speed is about 500 feet per minute, for both ascent or descent. Speed is automatically reduced at the approach to either terminal landing, bringing the car in at a crawl. An auxiliary four cylinder gas motor will cut in automatically in event of a power failure.

Total cost of the cable car installation is estimated at about $50,000. Multi-thousand dollar equipment housed in a building adjacent to the tower is controlled from the Calgary terminal of the Trans-Canada Microwave System.

Trouble at the tower site is relayed to the Calgary terminal by means of an alarm circuit equipped with 42 alarm lights. A diesel power standby unit, designed to cut in when power failures occur, may be remotely tested for operational readiness from the Calgary station. If trouble should develop, the cable car installation assures that workmen will be able to reach the scene quickly regardless of weather or road conditions.

Career Night To Be Held In Coleman

Once again the Crows Nest Pass is to have the privilege of a Career Night.

There will be a general assembly in the Coleman High School at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, March 18th.

Discussions on each individual topic will commence in the class rooms approximately 7:45 p.m. The same procedure will be repeated at approximately 8:35 p.m. This will give each interested student and parents a chance to hear two of the speakers.

Today no phase of education is more important than that of vocational guidance. Here is your chance to hear and question the experts in their various fields.

We do hope that you will make full use of this opportunity. Since this is a meeting of the entire Crows Nest Pass, student attendance will be limited to pupils in Grades X, XI and XII.

Mr. Joe Hannahan, Department of Public Works supervisor for the Pass area, informed The Journal this week that there will be two new bridges built and a camp kitchen. The new bridges will be in one across the Crows Nest river to Hillcrest and the other across the Crows Nest River at Byron Creek.

Equipment and material have arrived for these jobs. Bridge crews will arrive shortly.

The camp kitchen will be built at Island Lake by the Jubilee Sign Board. Men are now working on this project. Other improvements for this site will be a shore road for tourists along the lake front at Island Lake.

All extra labor required will be taken from the Pass area.

Crows Nest Pass Favors Gas Export

Support for early gas export came from an unexpected source as hearings of the Alberta Oil and Gas Conservation Board into the export application of West-coast Transmission Co., resumed at the Jubilee Auditorium on Tuesday.

The coal towns of Coleman and the other towns of the Crows Nest Pass area threw their support behind the export proposal. Coleman was designated as a site for a Westcoast sour gas treating plant if the Westcoast plan for export through the Crows Nest Pass to the U. S. should be approved.

Industries Needed

The brief presented by Mayor N. E. Aousaff of Coleman, said in part:

"If these communities (in the Pass) are to continue, there must be additional industries to supplement the revenues from the declining coal trade. Throughout this area there already exists all of the municipal machinery and social services necessary to industry, and a quick favorable decision by your Board could stabilize the already shaky economy of this region."

Mayor Aousaff said coal mining operations in the Pass are only a shadow of their former size. In 1949 coal production in the area was 8,616,983 tons. Last year it was 3,155,354 tons and a continuing decline is expected this year.

Pay Rolls Reduced

Payrolls dropped from $3,615,216 in 1952 to $950,247 in 1957. Number of men employed in the coal industry in that area in 1952 was 1250 against 241 last year and less than 200 this year.

In the Pass district 1604 men receive unemployment insurance, and 784 are totally unemployed.

Construction of pipeline, treating plants and pumping stations would prove considerable additional employment and revitalize the area which has been hard-hit by the decline of coal.

The City of Calgary supplemented its earlier presentation before the board by stressing that Calgary consumers should not have to depend on export lines for their natural gas but should have reserves designated for their use.

Fields, the city brief said, that should be set aside for Calgary include Foremost, Bow Island, Okotoks, Calgary, Jumping Pound, Sarc, Turner Valley, Sundre, Westward Ho, Hartman and Crossfield.

The hearings wind up at 11 p.m. each day.

Dobbins' decline

Calgary, Alta. (cp) — Only 16 licensed horses were kept in Calgary in 1957, except of course in Stampede Week.

In 1950 the city licensed 171 horses in dairies, packing companies and bread firms. Now only the stockyards and a packing house keep teams.

One of the three remaining blacksmiths, hammering at a truck axle said "I couldn't make a living today just shoeing horses."

Imperial Oil drilling "crews" and families from Alberta are losing no time getting settled in the "Marl" times. The crews, who will drill Imperial's first well in its search for oil in Prince Edward Island, have arrived in Summerside, Prince Edward Island, after a 1,000 mile trail journey from Edmonton. The first few days were used for house hunting, school enrolment and getting acquainted with Prince Edward Island. At the same time 450 tons of rotary rig and drilling equipment from western Canada were being loaded for "spinning in" the "wild cat" well at the site about 13 miles east of Summerside. Three-year-old Gregory Kippen, with his mother, Mrs. E. Kippen of Edmonton, converts a "bolder" trip into a backing broncho during a visit to a lobster factory at Summerside.

Advertise Eggs

The High River (Alta.) Times recently quoted a statement by a speaker on the egg marketing question as saying "If every person in Alberta ate one more egg per week there would be no surplus." The editor went on to say that an all-out vigorous and imaginative advertising campaign could accomplish something like this.

"Individual producers," he wrote, "can do nothing by themselves in advertising, but in co-operation through their farm organizations they could, and in doing so would perform a tremendous service for agriculture with no compulsion or no subsidies involved for anyone. It is one way in which agriculture could endeavor to stand on its own feet."

I agree, and I would be willing to wager several crates of eggs that if the editor of The High River Times wrote the advertising copy, he'd soon sell so many eggs there would be no more talk of compulsory marketing; so much better there would be no more foolish restrictions on margarine; so much lamb or mutton we wouldn't need to worry about all the quick-frozen food products being imported these days from the States.

Listen to his words: "... the various merits of eggs, their sunny color and appetite appeal, health-building potential, ease of preparation, economy and versatility could double or triple the demand for rock-berberies and put them in the place where they belong in the food-product world."

"The flavor and gourmet pleasing qualities of roast lamb with mint sauce, lamb chops with currant jelly and a reminder that real Irish stew is always made with lamb or mutton could be invitingly placed before the public—so that the sheep producers' main marketing problem would be to keep up with the demand."

Now doesn't that make you want to crack an egg into a frying pan, scramble it until it's a sunshiny glow on a white dinner plate? Or sink your teeth into a tender lamb chop garnished with tangey mint jelly?

Remember when liver used to be a glut on the market, when the butcher gave it away for free?

Then its merits were advertised through stories in the papers about its health-giving properties. Recipes were published showing how to cook it so that it made mouths water.

It seems to me that if the farm organizations would get together, buy modest space, and hire or shanghai the editor of The High River Times to write the copy, the sale of Canadian farm produce—eggs, butter, pork, or what have you—would soar.

I don't know about you but just typing out his words made my mouth water. I'm going to lunch. Lamb chops, eggs or Irish stew will get the nod from me today.

Tuberculosis claims more victims among men than among women. In 1955 the death rate for men was 10.8 per 100,000, while for women it was 6.9. Parallel figures are common throughout the countries which publish detailed health statistics.

Shaving was originally a protective measure since long beards were easy for opponents in combat to seize.

LAWRENCE E. KINDT Diefenbaker Candidate

SOCIAL SECURITY

Your Diefenbaker Candidate, Lawrence E. Kindt, will work for the creation of a "Social Security System" in Canada which will provide a reasonable standard of living in retirement, and remove the fear of want in old age.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker: "I believe it will not be very long before we will be in a position to introduce in the new Parliament a contributory social security system." (Extract from "The Albertan," issue February 27, 1958.)

To employees of corporations, or self employed people, which includes barbers, store-keepers, farmers, merchants, and people in all walks of life, this is probably the most important announcement made in recent years.

The institution of a national system of contributory pensions, or social security, to which the employee, employer, and state each contributives would be regulated to yield an adequate pension, a pension on a scale no present system can reach.

This is not some unworkable proposal. It is in successful operation in the United States, Great Britain, Sweden and other countries. In these countries the system has become one of the stabilizing elements in the economy.

Your aid in electing Dr. Lawrence E. Kindt, the Diefenbaker candidate, is so completely in your interest that your support and influence should be toward his election on March 31st. VOTE

Helper in museum shows own works

MONTREAL, Que. (cp) — Andre Zadorozny helped to hang hundreds of paintings by famous artists in the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts. He never dreamed that one day he would put up his own work.

A member of the museum's maintenance staff, Zadorozny however had 17 watercolors depicting Montreal's scenes place placed on exhibition there recently. The showing climaxed a 20-year struggle for the Ukrainian-born artist who has worked as a farm helper, logger, construction laborer and house-painter since he came to Canada in 1937.

Zadorozny's mother gave him his first lesson in art. When he was four years old she began teaching him to sketch pictures of Jesus in pencil.

He continued drawing while attending primary school and won a scholarship to the Academy of Fine Arts at L'Avoy. After coming to Canada he studied fine arts at Edmonton and then Montreal.

Zadorozny then took his succession of jobs. He sold little of his work and often unable to paint and earn money — went hungry until his style attracted Alan Thomson, vice-president of Foundation Company of Canada.

Mr. Thomson noticed several Zadorozny water colors hanging in a YMHA building and gave the artist financial assistance after hearing of the man's plight.

Four years ago Zadorozny joined the museum staff and continued to paint in his spare time.

Special studies aid geophysics in Newfoundland

St. John's, Nfld. (cp) — At least five Newfoundland centres are probing the secrets of earth, sea and sky in order to compile data in connection with the International Geophysical Year, which began last July 1 and runs to the end of 1958.

Newfoundland will contribute findings in the fields of meteorology, geomagnetism, aurora, air glow, ionosphere, oceanography, gravity and atomic radiation. Information in these fields will supplement studies being carried across Canada. In turn, Canada's information will be put into a world pool of new material.

Most Newfoundland studies are being made at St. John's, Goose Bay, Labrador, Argentina and Stephenville, Nfld. Meteorology is studied at all Newfoundland weather stations except Gander and it is hoped more accurate methods of forecasting weather will be found.

The physics if ionosphere, a layer of upper atmosphere extending from 50 to 250 miles above the earth, is under study here. Scientists use radio waves to probe the electrically-charged area and it is hoped their findings will lead to improved electronic navigation and better radio and TV reception.

This port city is also charting water levels, temperatures, salinity and ocean currents as part of a program extending from here to Halifax and northward to Resolute Bay in the Arctic. Aurora, commonly known as the northern lights, along with geomagnetism—the earth's magnetic field — are being observed at Goose Bay.

PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT GRANTS

CITIES, TOWNS AND VILLAGES

Alberta's cities, towns and villages need money to provide diversified services for residents. This money is derived mainly from two sources—municipal taxes and Provincial Government Grants.

The 1956 municipal levy in cities, towns and villages in Alberta was $45,382,855.35 which, added to the Provincial Government Grant of $31,816,625.51 equalled a total of $77,199,480.86.

Provincial Government municipal grants are paid directly to the cities, towns and villages concerned.

School Grants are paid directly to the School Districts and Divisions and Hospital Grants are paid to hospital authorities.

Total Taxes	$45,382,855.35

Municipal Grants	$ 8,178,855.06
	7.5%
Hospital Grants	$ 5,732,516.57

* To express these grants in terms of their assistance to a municipality, school grants are pro-rated on an assessment basis. Hospital grants are pro-rated on a provincial per-capita basis. The resulting figures are therefore considered an approximation.

Provincial Government Grants to Alberta counties and municipal districts will be discussed in the next installment in this series.

Coleman Town Council

Secretary-Treasurer

LAWRENCE E. KINDT
DIEFENBAKER CANDIDATE

To Market, To Market.....

There's an old nursery rhyme that goes along that way, and for years we've seen folks lulled to sleep with nursery rhymes.

At the last election your Diefenbaker Candidate, LAWRENCE E. KINDT, said John Diefenbaker and the Conservatives would open the Japanese market for your coal.

THEY DID!

This was no nursery rhyme. And the Diefenbaker government didn't go to sleep on promises. About one month after they took office an order-in-council opened these markets for your coal.

This search for markets for your produce continues IF you support this active, aggressive government.

Give this support by electing a representative who will sit with the government in power at Ottawa. THIS TIME elect a government man - not one who is always in "opposition."

On March 31st, VOTE
